Marquetta J. Bryan has over 18 years of experience as an attorney in private practice and federal government handling cases involving employment, including executive representation, education, civil rights, education, insurance defense and coverage issues, negligence, personal injury, premises liability, contracting and procurement and administrative law matters. Marquetta has also served as outside general counsel to clients and has enjoyed the challenge of gaining knowledge and proficiency in new fields of law as necessary. Marquetta also serves as a neutral hearing officer for ethics and administrative personnel matters.

Prior to joining Nelson Mullins, Marquetta was a partner with an Atlanta insurance defense law firm that specialized in civil litigation defense, including general liability, medical malpractice and insurance litigation. Marquetta began her legal career with the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development as a Trial Attorney/Attorney-Advisor, where she handled contracting and procurement protests, and assisted with various types of litigation, including both affirmative and defensive. Her proficiency in handling a variety of cases has made Marquetta a trusted advisor. As a result, Marquetta has a broad range of knowledge from which to draw in legal situations which is invaluable in helping to resolve disputes with a variety of individuals of various backgrounds and interests.

Marquetta has represented clients before the District Courts of Georgia, the Eleventh Circuit, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the state courts of Georgia, and other administrative hearing bodies, including the State Board of Education. Throughout her decades of legal practice, Marquetta has negotiated settlements to her legal cases helping clients avoid the uncertainties of litigation....
